Professor Vasilis Maglaris – Short CV, June 2023

Professor Maglaris graduated from the National Technical University of Athens – NTUA (1974) and obtained a Ph.D. degree from Columbia University (1979). Between 1979 and 1990 he held industrial and academic positions in the USA, all in advanced electronic communications. From 1990 to 2019 he was a professor at the School of Electrical & Computer Engineering at NTUA teaching and performing research on Internet technologies. He supervised the development of the NTUA Campus LAN and of the Greek Research & Education Network GRNET. From 2004 to 2012 he chaired the Governance Committee of the Pan-European Research & Education Network GÉANT. From July 2012 to June 2013, he served as General Secretary for Research & Technology of Greece. He is currently a Professor Emeritus, teaching & performing research on Machine Learning algorithms for cyber-attack protection.